Thirty-Five Horsepower Twin Cylinder Oil Burner Does Good Work; Large New Storehouse Built.

The Mausard mill, North First street and Fruit avenue, capacity 50 barrels of flour each twenty-four hours, is now operating under its own power. A 35-horse power twin cylinder oil burner engine having recently been installed. The installation of the power plant is only one of the many improvements recently effected under the direction of A. H. Carroll, manager of the mill. Twenty-three hundred feet of additional floor space for storage purposes was acquired several weeks ago when a building 162 x 80 and 32x32 was completed. In this building may be stored from 150 to 300 tons of alfalfa and sixteen or eighteen cars of grain. The Mausard mill has a large grinding capacity and handles wheat, bran, corn meal, chop and oats and is rapidly building up an extensive trade territory.

GUARDSMEN GETTING READY TO GO TO ENCAMPMENT

Company G. Now Has Forty Two Men and Under Command of Captain B. Hunter Is in Splendid Shape.

Preparatory to attending the encampment in Las Vegas for two weeks beginning July 15, officers and men of Company G National Guards, are busily engaged in drilling and getting equipment ready for the trip. Company G now has forty-two men and under the command of Captain B. Hunter is perhaps in better shape than it has been for many years. The company has been recruited up to its present strength by persistent work and the men have been picked from many applicants. As was demonstrated on July 4 when Captain Hunter and his men did patrol duty during the automobile races, Company G is a quick and span aggregation of clean cut young men who are interested in their work and determined to have the crack company of the state.

Mayor Sellers was so pleased with the showing made by the company on Independence day that he has declared his intention to invite them to participate in all public ceremonies and events hereafter.

The company will be on duty all day July 14, the day before the men train for Las Vegas.

The Opportunity Is Here, Backed by Albuquerque Testimony.

Don't take our word for it. Don't depend on a stranger's statement.

Read Albuquerque endorsement. Read the statements of Albuquerque citizens.

And decide for yourself.

Here is one case of it. Mrs. E. Bourne, 403 South Broadway, Albuquerque, N. Mex., says: "I can vouch for the merit of Doan's Kidney Pills as heartily now as when I recommended them over two years ago. Since then I have advised other persons to try them and I know from reports that they have acted satisfactorily. In January 1907, I said in a public statement that the contents of three boxes had cured me of pain in the back that had clung to me for a long time. I can now add that I have had no recurrence of my trouble."

"ALL NATIVE" PARTY HAS BAD SPLIT AT SANTA FE

Twenty Followers Finally Accompany O. A. Larrasolo Into Executive Session; M. A. Ortiz Leads Bolt of Twelve.

(Special Correspondence to the Herald)

Santa Fe, N. M., July 5.—The "All Native" political party at its organization meeting here today suffered a serious split when M. A. Ortiz offered counter resolutions to those of O. A. Larrasolo, leader of the movement, and the Larrasolo resolutions were carried 20 to 12. The twelve withdrew with Mr. Ortiz and the twenty followed Mr. Larrasolo into a secret session. The Ortiz resolution declared that it was the sense of the meeting that there was no necessity in New Mexico for the formation of a social and political organization, such as was contemplated by the Larrasolo resolution. In defending his resolution, Ortiz called attention to the fact that this was the wrong way for the native people to go about this matter, because they could not get the solid support of their people, and it would only result in a counter organization on the other side, evidently referring to the Anglo-Americans. He said he was invariably against anything that would bring up the race issue in politics.

The meeting had been called by Mr. Larrasolo, Hilario Ortiz, Roman L. Baca and others. Malaquias Martinez, Enrique Aboitia, Benigno Hernandez, temporary president; Alejandro C. Cordova of Socorro, Benjamin L. Read, Marcos C. DeBaca and others took part in the meeting. The advocates of the proposed organization declared it was necessary to protect the rights of the Spanish-American people.

DRY AS TINDER IN NORTH ARIZONA FORESTS

Associate Forester A. S. Peck Returns From Inspection of Equipment and Methods for Fighting Fires on Ranges.

The efficiency of the fire fighting system in use on national forests in northern Arizona is being demonstrated this year as never before. The extreme dryness on the Colorado, the Sitgreaves and the northern half of the Apache forests has caused many forest fires, which but for the alertness of the rangers and their capacity for leadership and endurance, coupled with the splendid system of reporting and locating fires, would mean losses to the federal government, to the state and the people running into the hundreds of thousands of dollars.

A. S. Peck, Jr., associate forester of the Third district of the United States forest service, was at his desk in the forestry headquarters in Albuquerque today after a trip over northern Arizona forests which began at Flagstaff and ended at Holbrook. Mr. Peck made a long detour, taking in large sections of the Sitgreaves' Coconino and Apache, inspecting with particular attention the towers on the lofty mountain peaks, from which watchers sight fires and immediately report them to the supervisor. The watcher does not leave the tower to make his report, as all the towers are connected by telephone with the supervisor's office. Immediately upon receiving a report of a fire, the supervisor locates the place of the fire on a map, then notifies the nearest ranger. The ranger proceeds at once to the fire as directed, taking with him necessary tools and implements and obtaining as many firefighters from ranches and sheep camps as possible. With such quick action, it is seldom that a fire gets beyond the control of the ranger and his helpers.

"We have had many fires on the northern Arizona forests this season," said Mr. Peck today. "The extreme dryness is responsible, many of the fires being caused by lightning. Notwithstanding the number of fires, however, the loss has been nominal. The fire-fighting system is now down to a science. The towers, equipped with telephone service, and the method of locating fires and notifying rangers, together with dependable and resourceful rangers and guards, have resulted in accomplishing remarkably good work in reducing fire losses to a minimum."

OVERGRAZED STOCK RANGES CAN COME BACK, SAYS DEPARTMENT

Washington, July 5.—The improved condition of the national forest range after regulated grazing is pointed to by experts of the department of agriculture as a demonstration that areas which have been severely damaged through overstocking by sheep and cattle can be brought back to their former carrying power through a system of sufficiently intelligent use.

When the government took charge of the livestock ranges within the national forests some of them were so badly overgrazed and otherwise injured that their grazing value appeared to have been almost entirely destroyed. Many of these ranges, however, have been restored and made as valuable as ever. On several of the forests results have been more than justified the expectations and the range is in better condition than it ever was.

is cited in the Nebo national forest, Utah. In 1903, when that forest was created, the ranges within the forest boundaries were found to be badly overgrazed and trampled because there was a lack of any control or supervision over the areas. One of the areas was at that time estimated to be capable of carrying only 3,000 head of cattle. Now, through conservative management and judicious distribution of the cattle over the ranges, and improvements in water conditions, the carrying capacity of the range has been increased until, in the present grazing season, nearly 8,000 head of cattle are using this particular area, and forest officers feel that a few hundred head more can be safely grazed there without injury.

DR. LAURO MULLER HERE TODAY

Brazilian Minister of Foreign Affairs Passes Through Albuquerque on Way to New York.

Accompanied by a party of thirty-two, traveling in two private cars, Dr. Lauro Muller, Brazilian minister of foreign affairs, and one of the most astute of the Latin-American statesmen, passed through Albuquerque on Santa Fe train No. 2 this afternoon. Dr. Muller was greeted here by Mayor Sellers and a committee of prominent citizens. The distinguished visitor expressed regret that he could not stop in Albuquerque for a day, starting from New York three weeks ago. Dr. Muller has visited nearly every city of importance in the United States and has also paid particular attention to the natural and scenic wonders of the country.

"BEAUTIFUL FANTASY"

MULLER'S TRIBUTE

Grand Canyon, Ariz., July 5.—"It has been all day like a beautiful fantasy. It is hard to believe the wonderful handwork of the Almighty is real. It touches the loftiest emotions of the soul. Some day, I am coming back for a long stay. I want to go out to the rim at Maricopa point all alone in the evening and watch the sun set on this most wonderful work of God."

That was the tribute to the Grand Canyon of the Colorado river paid last night by Dr. Lauro Muller, Brazilian secretary of state and special ambassador of the South American republic, who is returning the visit paid to Brazil by former Secretary of State Elihu Root.

Dr. Muller and his party arrived at the Grand Canyon early and took the eastern rim drive, viewing the Grand Canyon from Yavapai point.

The special ambassador seemed fascinated by the panorama, viewed under especially favorable weather conditions. The ambassador seemed interested in learning of the acquisition of the territory from Mexico and its ownership by the government as a national park.

In the afternoon, Ambassador Muller insisted, despite very threatening weather, on driving to Hopi, Maricopa and other points on the western rim. Muller was always the last of the party to leave the viewpoints and seemingly took much pleasure in collecting rocks illustrating the formation of the Grand Canyon.

The party left at 8 o'clock last night for Williams, where the night was spent. At 4:30 this morning the party left for Chicago, reaching there at 10:15 a. m. Wednesday, and leaving for New York the same afternoon.

MULLER DUE IN CHICAGO WEDNESDAY

Williams, Ariz., July 5.—Dr. Lauro Muller, Brazilian special envoy, left today for Chicago, accompanied by his suite and the United States government representatives. The party will arrive in Chicago Wednesday morning and leave the same afternoon for New York.

Surprising Cure of Stomach Trouble

When you have trouble with your stomach or chronic constipation, don't imagine that your case is beyond help just because your doctor fails to give you relief. Mrs. G. Stenge, Plainfield, N. J., writes, "For over a month past I have been troubled with my stomach. Everything I ate upset it terribly. One of Chamberlain's advertising booklets came to me. After reading a few of the letters from people who had been cured by Chamberlain's Tablets, I decided to try them. I have taken nearly three-fourths of a package of them and can now eat almost everything that I want." For sale by all druggists.

STATE GEOLOGIST GETS ACQUAINTED WITH FIELD

Prof. Charles T. Kirk Returns from Trip to Copper and Coal Districts Near Socorro and Magdalena.

Prof. Charles T. Kirk of the department of geology in the state university, returned today from a week's trip into the copper and coal areas near Socorro and Magdalena. He found a party of United States geological surveyors inspecting the coal of the latter region, and a private party of geologists and civil engineers prospecting the same tract for oil. Dr. Kirk expects to spend the summer in familiarizing himself with the geological problems and mineral resources of the state. His next expedition will probably be into the region north and east of the Sandia mountains, where potash, common salt and other economic deposits are reported.
